

Opportunities in Oxfordshire for specialists in commercial real estate.

Our client has been described as 'a slice of the City in the country'. For lawyers seeking a better work/life balance without sacrificing the quality of their work, this could well be the solution you have been seeking.

BrookStreet des Roches is a specialist commercial real estate firm with a vibrant and enviable client base. Its turnover to the end of Q3 has increased by over 25% on the year. The current levels of business and potential for additional business mean there are great opportunities for ambitious lawyers who want to move out of the urban environment but continue to enjoy the kind of work associated with the larger firms.

As a member of BrookStreet des Roches, you will enjoy:

- » A competitive remuneration package
- » Modern offices in a good location with easy access to London (Paddington Station in less than an hour) and other major commercial centres
- » The delights of Oxford and surrounding towns and villages all within easy reach
- » A supportive environment with state of the art technology, resources and training programmes

- » An informal but dedicated culture
- » A client base and quality of work of the highest calibre
- » Opportunities to grow and capture a bigger share of the commercial real estate market
- » A business sector based approach to marketing and services
- » Opportunity for flexible working

The right candidates for the roles will be between 1 and 5 years qualified, but the firm will consider strong candidates outside this range. You will have trained with and have post-qualification experience of working in a real estate team where repeat business for high-calibre and demanding clients is the norm. BrookStreet des Roches encourages all its lawyers to foster good relations with its clients and referrers as well as to develop their interest in introducing new business.
